UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN
MPH/MHSA DEGREE PROGRAM

Mission Statement
The mission of the University of Michigan Medical Degree/Masters in Public Health/Masters in Health Science Administration (MD-MPH/MHSA) Degree Program is to provide opportunities for students to explore and integrate complementary interests and career goals that combine medicine and health care delivery systems or public health policy planning and advocacy.

Program Structure
The University of Michigan MPH/MHSA Program is a five-year program. Students accepted into the Program will spend their first three years in Medical School, completing the M1, M2, and M3 course work. These students will then matriculate to the School of Public Health to complete the full first year MPH course load as their fourth program year and complete an MPH summer internship between the fourth and fifth program years. In the fifth year, students will spend one semester completing the MD requirements, and the other semester completing the MPH requirements.

Admission Process for Prospective Medical Students
Applicants may make application to the Medical School and the School of Public Health at the same time. Each school will independently evaluate the applicant and make their admission decision. If satisfactory progress in the Medical School curriculum is achieved, the student may, pending endorsement by the Medical School’s Clinical Academic Review Board, matriculate to the School of Public Health at the conclusion of the third year of Medical School.

Admission Process For Current Medical Students
Given the similarities in the MPH and MHSA curricula prospective and current students are encouraged to discuss their career goals and interests in health with the Health Management and Policy faculty. Current medical students should formally apply to the MPH/MHSA Program by submitting the Medical School’s MPH/MHSA Intent Form by November 1st of their M3 year. This form may be obtained from the Program Coordinator (sypher@umich.edu). At the time the Intent Form is submitted, students will also submit a written personal statement outlining their goals and reasons for pursuing the MPH/MHSA degree.

Admission to the MPH/MHSA Program is not automatic. Applicants are expected to have demonstrated outstanding academic achievement and professionalism in Medical School. Applicants must receive Medical School endorsement for admission to the MD-MPH/MHSA Program through the Clinical Academic Review Board. This will include rigorous review of the applicant’s overall medical school performance, personal statement, and any other relevant materials.

For the MPH degree, students must also formally apply to the School of Public Health and complete the standard MPH application. For the MHSA degree, students must apply the Rackham School of Graduate Studies (and complete the standard application) as well as the School of Public Health (completing the standard application). Students who applied to both schools at the same time must take the GRE. Students already admitted to the MD program will have their MCAT scores accepted in lieu of the GRE.

Curriculum
See reverse side.

Tuition
Students accepted into the MD-MPH/MHSA Program will have access to all financial assistance available from both the Medical School and School of Public Health.
